

CE-IT Community

A Clinical Engineering/IT Collaboration

SPONSORED BY

Leaders of the Association for the Advancement of Medical Instrumentation (AAMI), the American College of Clinical Engineering (ACCE), and the Healthcare Information and Management Systems Society (HIMSS) joined forces to develop the Clinical Engineering/IT (CE-IT) Community.

What is the CE-IT community?

Mission The CE-IT Community provides an effective point of connection between IT and biomedical/clinical engineering individuals and groups, and the broader healthcare community. The community is open to all individuals including, but not limited to biomedical equipment technicians, clinical engineers, clinical engineering technology managers, IT professionals, device designers, device manufacturers, clinicians, and those interested in the broader field of clinical engineering-IT convergence.

Purpose The CE-IT Community creates a united voice for clinical engineering, clinicians and IT professionals to create a positive culture of change for medical device design, software and information technology while enhancing the ability of the professionals who support and utilize IT systems and medical devices to converge their respective knowledge.

What will the CE-IT community be working on?

DEVELOPMENT OF CE-IT CONVERGENCE Contribute to the convergence of IT and clinical engineering technology to positively effect patient safety and healthcare delivery through interdisciplinary collaboration

ADVANCEMENT OF CE-IT INTEGRATION Facilitate the advancement of IT and clinical engineering integration within the industry.

UNIFIED VOICE Serve as advocates for a united voice for clinical engineering/IT professionals

We have established 5 working groups to date, these include:

Working Group 1 - Infrastructure-Wireless

Working Group 2 - Medical Device Integration

Working Group 3 - Emerging Technologies

Working Group 4 - CE-IT Collaboration

Working Group 5 - Risk Management

How can you join?
